

To Light a Candle

A film by Maziar Bahari, co-writer with Jon Stewart of Rosewater

Iran stops Bahá'ís from teaching and studying at university. But they do teach. And they do study. Come to the Harvard screening of Bahari's first film after Rosewater, followed by a panel discussion about the universal right to learn.

Panelists

Prof. Jacqueline Bhabha

Harvard School of Public Health
Harvard Law School
Kennedy School

Farnaz Fassihi

Nieman Fellow, Harvard
Deputy Mideast bureau chief, Wall Street Journal

Prof. Diane Moore

Harvard Divinity School
Center for the Study of World Religions

Mojdeh Rohani

Boston University School of Social Work
Bahá'í Institute of Higher Education

Aref Ebrahimi

Former student, Bahá'í Institute of Higher Education
Harvard Extension School

Dr. Albert Lincoln

Former Secretary-General, Bahá'í International Community
Harvard '67

Screening

Friday, 27 February 2015

Film: 7 PM | Panel: 8 PM

Sever Hall, Room 113

Harvard Yard

Cambridge, MA

Sponsored by the Bahá'í Chaplaincy at Harvard
<http://chaplains.harvard.edu/>

EDUCATION IS NOT A CRIME

iranwire.com

Nieman

More about the campaign:
EducationisNotaCrime.me

